Ogden Mills Becomes Secretary of Treasury

Mellon Accepts Ambassadorship to London Thursday

Served in Cabinet Under Three Presidents Beginning in 1921

MILLS IS QUALIFIED

Mellon Succeeds Chas. E. Dawes, Who Resigned Recently

WASHINGTON—(P)—Appointment of Andrew W. Mellon, as Ambassador to Great Britain, Thursday was termed as a "Presidential Pardon," by Representative Wright Patman, Texas Democrat, sponsor of impeachment proceedings against the Treasury head.

WASHINGTON—(P)—Arthur A. Ballantine, assistant secretary of the Treasury will be named to succeed Ogden Mills as Under Secretary.

WASHINGTON—(P)—Ogden Mills, under secretary of the Treasury, was named formally by President Hoover Thursday as Secretary of the Treasury, succeeding Andrew Mellon, who Wednesday night announced that he had accepted the Ambassadorship to Great Britain.

Mills has served as undresseretary for several years and has been increasingly active in direction of the nation's fiscal policies.

MELLON ACCEPTS

WASHINGTON—(P)—Secretary Mellon of the Treasury Wednesday accepted the ambassadorship to Great Britain. He had served as head of the Treasury under three presidents beginning with the Harding administration.

Mr. Mellon earlier in the day had admitted that the post had been offered him, but he had not made up his mind as to whether he would accept it.

President Hoover, in announcing that Mellon would succeed Charles G. Dawes, who resigned to head the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, said:

"The critical situation facing all countries in their international relations, the manifold economic and other problems demanding wise solution in our national interests calls for experience and judgment of the highest order. The importance to our country of the sound determination of these world wide difficulties needs no emphasis."

"I have decided therefore to call upon one of our wisest and most experienced public servants to accept a position which will enable him after many years of distinguished public service at home to render equal service to his country in the foreign fields.

"I have asked Mr. Mellon to undertake the ambassadorship to Great Britain. I am happy to say he has now expressed his willingness to serve."

CONFIRMATION FORECAST

In spite of the critical attitude of some members of the Senate, administration leaders were confident Wednesday night that Mellon's nomination will be confirmed.

Associates of the secretary said the one question in his mind in connection with acceptance concerned his physical ability to take the job. He is nearly 77, but is active and in good health.

Mellon said there were a few problems still pending in the Treasury in which he was interested and that his personal affairs caused him to go slow in leaving at this time.

He came into the cabinet March 4, 1921, under appointment from President Harding and has continued in office under three presidents. He also has served longer than any other cabinet officer except Albert Gallatin who held the office from 1801 to 1813, and James Wilson who headed the Agriculture Department from 1887 to 1913.

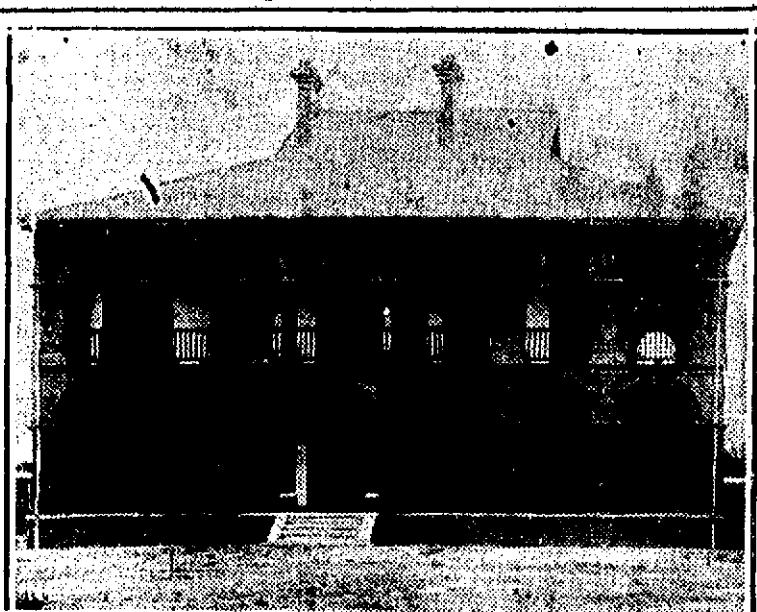

Mr. Mellon came to the Treasury from the presidency of the Mellon National bank at Pittsburgh, Pa.

While in Southern France last summer, President Hoover asked Mellon to represent this government at negotiations with world powers which resulted in the agreement to postpone for one year all international debt payments. He also took an active part in the negotiations which led up to the funding of the $11,000,000 war debt owed the United States by the Allies.

Russellville Judge to Enter Governor's Race

CLARKSVILLE, Ark.—(P)—Circuit Judge A. B. Priddy of Russellville Wednesday said he was considering entering the gubernatorial race. He said he was not yet ready to announce his candidacy, but that he might announce soon.

W. B. Graves Dies Wednesday Night

Employee of Ivory Handle Company to Be Buried at Paragould

W. B. Graves, aged 42, died at the family home in this city Wednesday night.

Mr. Graves came to Hope from Paragould and for the past ten years has been connected with the Ivory Handle Company.

He is survived by his widow and one son, Hilburn Graves, who is president of the senior class of the Hope high school; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Graves of Paragould, a brother, Raymond, of Paragould, and three sisters, Mrs. Edwin Way and Miss May Graves of Paragould and Mrs. Nora Graves of Steacy.

The body was taken to Paragould for burial on Friday.

TWO DEMOCRATIC LEADERS ARE DEAD

Quin of Mississippi and Rutherford of Georgia Succumb Thursday

WASHINGTON—(P)—Representatives Percy Quin of Mississippi, and Samuel Rutherford of Georgia, died within less than an hour of each other Thursday.

Quin, a veteran of almost 20 years in the house, was ill for more than a month.

Rutherford dropped dead while sleeping.

Both had been a member since 1925. Both were Democrats and their deaths brought the house standing of the Democrats to 218, the Republicans 213, Farm Labor 1, and three vacancies.

Legislature Split On Tax Proposals

Delay in Mississippi Revenue Bills Seen as Result of Discord

JACKSON, Miss.—(P)—Delay in the introduction of bills embracing new revenue plans loomed Wednesday night with indications that the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have not been able to get together on major revenue proposals.

The ad valorem levy now at eight mills and the proposed one cent tax on five-cent drinks have been proposed but the committees have not decided whether to submit a two or a three per cent retail sales tax.

While the Senate favors a reduction in the ad valorem levy, the House Ways and Means Committee in a test vote refused reduction at present by 21 to 3.

The same vote saw the House committee supporting the one cent soft drink tax, which is opposed by the Senate committee.

A protest against any retail tax was made by a delegation from the Mississippi Retail Merchants Association Wednesday which asked that a "gross income tax" of one per cent on all income sources be substituted for the sales tax.

This form of taxation, delegation members said, would levy upon about 800,000 Mississippians and would yield between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

A measure by Representative Waddington of Harrison seeking tax exemption on exports and imports housed in port warehouses of the state was unanimously passed after the author said it would encourage shipments through Mississippi ports.

11 STUDENTS SCORE GRADE STRAIGHT A

Record Number Reported for First Semester of High School

Eleven students of Hope Junior High School made a perfect record of A's during the first semester just closed. Miss Beryl Henry, city superintendent, announced Thursday.

It was the largest list of perfect students reported in several years. Grade A is reserved for the very best, grade B for better than average, and grade C for the average student, the school superintendent explained.

The 11 whose semester's work was graded A are: Taylor Alexander, Martha Cantley, Avia Wilson, Vera VanSickle, Ed Jack McCabe, Enola Alexander, Robert Porter, Mary Delia Carrigan, Ruby Owen, Luther Holloman and Marjorie Higgason. Of this group four have a perfect report card. All six weeks grades and all semester grades are A. These are Luther Holloman, Taylor Alexander, Enola Alexander and Ed Jack McCabe.

STORM BURIES TEXANS COWS UNDER HAYSTACK

BARTLETT, Texas.—(P)—Two cows belonging to L. A. Friedrich, a farmer, were missing after a wind storm recently and Friedrich spent four days looking for them without avail. They were finally found buried under a straw stack which had blown over and were extricated, little the worse for the experience. One had given birth to a calf while buried under the straw.

Kiwanians Invite 18 Farmers Here For Friday Night

"Live-at-Home" Program Observed Throughout State This Week

DINNER AT CAPITAL

Lack of County Agents Keenly Felt With Depression Not Yet Over

To sponsor "live at home" campaign, which is being conducted throughout the state this week, Hope Kiwanis club has invited 18 outstanding farmers of this section to attend this week's club dinner, Friday night at 7 o'clock, at the Capital Hotel. George Ware, in charge of the state Fruit and Truck Experiment Station, has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal talk.

The "live-at-home" program is being conducted this week by the state university Agricultural Extension Service, the State Department of Agriculture, and various other farm agencies. However, since Hempstead county does not have the benefits of either a county agent or a home demonstration agent, due to the failure of the county judge and the quorum court to make appropriations for this work, there is no agency in the county to conduct this educational program.

The Kiwanis club is holding the dinner to do what it can, with its limited facilities, to make up for the lack during the "live at home" campaign.

Guest List

Those who have been asked to attend are:

Oscar and Edgar Brint, Ed Los, Bert Scott, Ab Christian, Henderson Jones, George Johnson, Elmer Jones, A. N. Rider, Howell Herring, Riley Lewallen, Royce Weisenberger, Jim Wilson, V. M. England, Lester Orr, W. E. Eller, Frank Hill, and O. A. McKnight.

Kiwanis club officials explained that each member is to pay for one guest. There are many other very good farmers in the county, but the club could entertain only 18 of them.

Declaring that economic conditions favoring and in prospect for this year make it necessary that strong emphasis be placed on the production of food and feed crops in 1932, Governor Parnell has issued a statement urging all Arkansas farmers to join in observance of the "live-at-home" program this week, by planning their crops and agricultural programs in a manner to assure a variety of food and feed crops to be supplied with whatever cash crops can be grown profitably.

Governor's Message

The governor's statement follows:

"With the month of January nearing its end there comes a time for a very important activity in the life of all persons directly or indirectly concerned in agricultural pursuits. The problem is more or less the same with all persons and those problems confronting the hill farmer also confront the plantation operator in the delta lands. The questions that come up on any farm in the lowlands of Chicot county are similar to those presented to the grower of fruits and small grains in the ridges of the northern counties.

"The year of 1929 might be remembered as a lean year for farmers and the year 1930 was practically one of failure. This past year of 1931 was very bountiful as to yield, but from a dollar and cent view it was not a profitable one. Early in 1931, realizing the necessity for raising of food and feed stuffs, he various agencies all attempted to stress the importance of raising necessary sustenance for the house and barn. There was a widespread response, with a result that never before in the history of Arkansas has there been such a varied storage of all things for man and beast.

When the fall of 1931 arrived, although the prospects for a money crop yield were far from encouraging there was a distinct and noticeable complacent attitude existing. Although the cash on hand was low, there was not the usual dread of possible exhaustion of food and feed before the winter months were over which proved that those participating and co-operating in the plan were seeing a new light and a departure from old customs and habits."

The publication says the figure indicates an "encouraging" number of new industries established and old ones expanded, although the total is below those of corresponding months in previous years. The survey covers 16 states from Maryland to Texas.

The publication says that "except for the serious business situation, the number of new plants would have probably broken all previous records in the past two years. We look for this movement to grow and multiply from now on. The way of business progress is undoubtedly becoming clearer."

Oil refining plants lead the list of present and contemplated industrial construction reported in the survey which shows also:

A $3,000,000 plant at Houston being discussed by Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company.

A gasoline plant of 30,000 gallons daily capacity now under construction at Willow Springs, Tex., by the Arkansas Fuel Oil Company.

Rosston to Hold Old Fiddlers Meet

Five Basketball Games Have Been Scheduled for Afternoon

A big time is assured everyone who attends the County Basketball tournament and the Southwest Arkansas Old Fiddlers Contest at Rosston Saturday, February 13. A fine program has been arranged beginning at 1 p.m. and lasting into the night until oil contestants in the fiddlers contest have finished their musical numbers. Basketball games will begin at 1 o'clock and there are a number of the best quintets in Nevada county who will play.

Willisville boys vs. Emmet, 1. Bluff City girls vs. Rosston, 2. Rosston boys vs. Kililane, 3. Spring Hill boys vs. Cale, 4. Laneburg vs. Bodenw, 5.

These will all be interesting games. Contestants will be admitted free and are requested to register with J. W. Holloway on or before the 12th of February.

C. Caldwell, C. C. Dillard, P. W. Taylor compose the committee and J. W. Holloway is the general manager.

An address will be delivered by Superintendent J. I. McClurkin, Prescott schools.

Industrial Revival Indicated in South

$55,000,000 in New Construction in Last Month Held Favorable Index

BALTIMORE.—(P)—The Manufacturers Record in its current issue reports more than $55,000,000 in new engineering construction and building work awarded and proposed during the first month of 1932 in the South and Southwest.

The publication says the figure indicates an "encouraging" number of new industries established and old ones expanded, although the total is below those of corresponding months in previous years. The survey covers 16 states from Maryland to Texas.

CONFIDENCE

Then spend your money with CONFIDENCE

For some one, every day, the biggest news is not on the front page. It's not even in the news columns.

There may be an earthquake in Italy or a revolution in Central America. There may be a hot election campaign or a million-dollar fire or a metropolitan crime wave. But for Jim Jones, who has decided to buy a new sedan, and for Mrs. Thompson, who needs some school dresses for little Mary Lou, the big news of the day is in the advertisements.

Even the doings of Congress and the big-league baseball results pale into insignificance beside the news of something you really want.

The advertising columns bring you, each day, sound information about quality, style and price. They announce new products and new developments that save time, trouble and expense for millions of people. They point out healthful habits of eating, sleeping, exercising.

Consistently advertised goods are safe goods to buy. Behind them stand the manufacturer and the merchant, guaranteeing their uniform quality. Read the advertisements before you buy.

SCENIC NEWS

Mr. S. H. Bixby

We shall do so much in the years to come.
But what have we done today?
We shall give our gold in a princely sum.
But what did we give today?
We shall lift the heart, and dry the tear.
We shall plant a hope, in place of fear.
We shall speak the words of love and cheer.
But what have we done today?
We shall be so kind in the after while,
But what have we been today?
We shall bring to each lonely life a smile.
But what have we brought today?
We shall give to truth a greater birth,
A steadfast faith a deeper worth,
Till all feel the hungering souls of earth.
But whom have we fed today?

The Cemetery Association will hold their regular monthly meeting on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the city hall. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Otis Parks of Fulton was the Wednesday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Cornelius and other relatives.

With the State of Maryland as the study subject, the Bay View Reading Club held a most interesting meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John S. Gibson Sr., on West Division street. For the occasion, the Gibson home was bright and inviting with a quantity of early spring flowers. The president, Mrs. Gus Haynes opened the meeting, and introduced Mrs. George Spragins, program leader for the afternoon who gave a very instructive historical sketch of Maryland, followed by the Club singing "Maryland, My Maryland," led by Mrs. R. M. LaGrove. Mrs. W. O. Shipley discussed the principal cities of the state; Mrs. Fanny Garrett told of the schools, churches and agricultural developments. The program closed with a paper by Mrs. J. T. Hickie telling of the location and climate. During the social hour, Mrs. Gibson assisted by Mrs. Jennie McWilliams and Mrs. John S. Gibson, Jr., served a delicious salad plate with hot tea.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Henry will return on Thursday night from Memphis, where Mr. Henry has been attending a meeting of Ivory Handle dealers.

Mrs. Luke Monroe, Mrs. Luther Smith and Mrs. Lee Holt of Washington were shopping in the city on Wednesday.

Mrs. A. M. Key and Mrs. W. H. Hutchinson entertained jointly on Wednesday at a most attractive early spring luncheon bridge at their home on South Elm street. The reception suite of the Reed home was aglow with a quantity of early spring flowers, with the jonquils and japonicas predominating. At 1 o'clock the most tempting three course luncheon was served on small tables, beautifully appointed, centered with crystal vases of the chosen flowers. Following the luncheon contract bridge was played from four tables, with the spring motif being further observed in the tulips and score pads. The guests included the members of the Wednesday Contract Bridge club and two extra tables. In the score count, prizes went to Mrs. Lloyd Spencer and Mrs. Frank Miles. The hostesses were assisted in caring for their guests by Mrs. Jack

IN ALL Brave Men

Willisville Here "Maker of Men"—Jack Holt and Dick Cromwell in Father-Son Drama

Does a man achieve heroism by first experiencing cowardice? Is there a bit of the coward in every brave man? "Maker of Men," the Columbia picture starring Jack Holt with Richard Cromwell, Joan Marsh, John Wayne, Robert Alden and others at the Saenger Theatre Sunday and Monday, is a drama of a father and son who arrived at an understanding of each other only after they had come to blows in a misunderstanding.

In "Maker of Men," written by Edward J. Green and Edward Sedgwick and directed by the latter, Holt

Action of Newton Baker and Roosevelt Played

WASHINGTON—(P)—Democratic presidential candidates were advised Wednesday by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, to add "to their renunciation of the League of Nations an equally emphatic renunciation of the league's pet baby—the so-called world court."

Tuesday's disavowal of the league as a democratic issue by Governor Roosevelt of New York and the recent similar stand by Newton D. Baker, of Ohio, has stirred the republican league foes to action.

Senator Moses issued the following statement:

"The Reno-like clarity with which democratic leaders—and especially democratic candidates—are seeking to divorce themselves from the League of Nations is interesting and amusing. It has apparently dawned upon their consciousness the the 7,000,000 majority by which the American people repudiated this issue in both 1920 and 1924 has a validity as applied to the election of 1932."

Arguments Continued
in Texas Ouster Suits

AUSTIN, Tex.—(P)—Whether R. C. Holmes, president of the Texas company, and other officials, will be required to come from New York to testify in Texas' anti-trust suit against major oil corporations still was undetermined Wednesday night.

Arguments before Judge J. D. Moore of the 8th Travis county district court continued without interruption, and without decision Wednesday over legality of an order issued by the court, at the instance of Attorney General James V. Allred, directing appearance of officials next Monday, and commanding them to bring certain correspondence.

Attorneys for the Texas company one of 12 defendants in a suit brought by Allred to oust oil companies doing business in violation of the state anti-trust laws are resisting the order on grounds it did not specify what testimony it was hoped to adduce from the witnesses and documents.

This is a good time to establish the habit of providing for home needs on farms in the state. With such a habit established and followed up in all years along with the possibilities afforded the Arkansas farmer for growing crops for a cash income, the position of the farmers of the state can be made secure during most any kind of times, and will give additional opportunities for profits when the demand for farm products becomes strong again.

It is urged that all people who are interested in agriculture in the state give their support to the efforts being made by Agricultural Extension Service, the state Department of Agriculture and other agencies to center interest on the live-at-home program during the week of February 1-6 and aid in starting action on it at that time which will be reflected in the production of the farms during the entire year.

The Month in Arkansas

January

Arkansas begins 1932 in a cheerful frame of mind . . . Trivial increases in unemployment during both November and December after many months during which large numbers of workers were made idle, coupled with expectation that the usual seasonal demand for labor shortly after January 15 would materialize, cited as one reason for optimism . . . Furniture manufacturers at Fort Smith book sufficient orders at American Furniture Mart in Chicago early in the month to keep plants busy sixty days . . . Cotton Belt Lines recall 350 men to shops at Pine Bluff . . . Missouri Pacific returns 700 men to work in shops in North Little Rock . . . Of thirteen regional districts in the country American Railway Association estimates only the Southwestern will require more freight cars for handling freight the first quarter of 1932 as compared with same period last year . . . Textile plant of International Shoe Company at Malvern increases force of workers and begins double shift operations . . . Fred Smith, Mississippi County, wins 1931 Mid-South cotton growing contest, with yield of 13,138 pounds on three acres, the third successive year the honor has been awarded that county . . . Truck growers in Southwestern Arkansas begin preparations to plant spring vegetable crop . . . President Hoover selects Harvey Couch as a member of the Board of the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation . . . Again Available 50 Million to Be Loaned Through Same Chan- nels as Last Year

Out of the two billion dollars loan which the Congress of the United States has authorized for the financial relief of farmers and business concerns, it is announced that fifty million dollars is to be loaned direct to the farmers through the same channels as were formed last year to take care of the rehabilitation of agriculture.

In a letter addressed to the newspaper in the Seventh Congressional District, Congressman Timan B. Parsons advises that those desiring the loans for 1932 make their applications at once, as he says the tremendous demand for money this year may result in the appropriation not being enough to take care of the requests for funds. Two hundred million dollars more of the total appropriation will directly affect the farmer as this amount will be loaned through different farm organizations such as the Federal Land Bank and various mortgage companies.

Not So Pleased

HOUSTON, Tex.—Eddie B. Pierce was handed a two-year sentence for burglary. "Thank you, gentlemen," he said, sarcastically, to the jury, with which he stamped on the floor with his feet, kicked the leg of the chair in which he had been sitting, and pounded most anything in the room which came within his reach. He was quieted and taken off to start his sentence.

French military authorities have ruled that bandsmen must learn to be telegraphers, too.

It was the huge map of China which Stanley Hornbeck, head of the Far Eastern Division of the State Department, is shown bearing to the White House, that President Hoover and other high officials studied at their important conference on the Chinese-Japanese crisis. From this meeting developed orders to send additional troops and marines from Manila to Shanghai for the protection of American residents of the Chinese city.

Drunken Luck

LOS ANGELES—Thomas F. De Muth has plenty of that drunken driver's luck. He drove in front of a Pacific Electric train and it dragged his car for more than 200 feet before it could stop. With horror the engineer viewed the wreckage, only to sigh with relief shortly after as he saw De Muth emerge unharmed. The driver was placed in jail on intoxication charges.

had never been inside Dreamland, firmly forward.

ELLEN was a light and graceful dancer. She was surprised to find that Salomon, for all his bulk, danced better than any partner she had ever had before. After two turns of the room he released her, mopped his forehead and dropped into his swivel chair again.

That feeling of suppressed excitement was still with her when she reached the dancehall a few steps off Broadway and plunged into the graceful dusk of the building. It left her abruptly when, at the second floor, she left the elevator and stepped into Dreamland.

The big, over-decorated room even with all the shades drawn, appeared cheap and tawdry. The paper roses that shaded the lights were not only imitation—they were dirty.

The door, not yet swept, was messy with confetti remaining from the night before. Nor did the peeling gilt chairs and tables arranged around the walls present a setting for romance. Or the glass ticket booth near the door like the ticket booths of motion picture houses.

As though romance were for sale!

Ellen squared her jaw, assured herself that she had not come for romance, and walked toward the door marked "Office—Jacob Salomon, Manager." She was a little surprised that there were no other girls waiting and a little cast down as well. That probably was a clear indication that Dreamland jobs were not too profitable.

She knocked at the frosted glass door. A querulous voice bade her enter.

Jacob Salomon did not rise when she came in. He was wearing a hat. He did not remove his hat. Nor did he remove the cigar in his mouth when he inquired her business. Ellen told him.

"D'ja ever dance professionally?"

"No, I haven't. But I'm a very good dancer," replied Ellen in a voice as brusque as his own.

She had no intention of being intimidated by Jacob Salomon. He leaned across his untidy desk, wound up a portable Victrola, put on a record and stood up.

"I'll try you out," he said.

Ellen looked startled. But evidently Salomon expected her to dance with him. He was holding out his arms. She had never before danced with a man in his shirt sleeves, a man wearing a hat and smoking a cigar. But she stepped

Washington Gets Three Lickings

Basketball Team Loses All Games on the Week's Calendar

Washington high basketball team was defeated by Hope Royals on the court of the latter on last Wednesday night by a score of 26 to 16. Washington Juniors were also defeated by the Hope Juniors by a small score. In the second game of last week, played at the Armory, in Hope, the Senators were again defeated, this time by Patmos high. Quite a bit of scoring was done in this latter game as the board read Patmos 35 and Washington 27 at the end of the final session.

Washington was scheduled to play the National Guard team as Hope Wednesday night but results were not available in time to be included here. The basketball tournament of District Ten, of which Washington is a member, is to be held in Texarkana, at the Arkansas High school building, to be held prettishidrdrdruhr on the 26th and 27th of February, it was decided at a meeting of officials in Hope last Saturday. The girls tournament will be held at Ashdown on March 11th and 12th. The junior boys tournament will be held in Hope on March 9th and 10th.

HOUSTON, Texas.—After he is divorced, a man is free from his former wife's clutches and can marry again—if his love gets the better of his discretion. Charles and Olina Sloan were divorced in 1928. Olina recently filed a bigamy charge against Charles when his intentions to marry again were made known. Judge Ray ruled that a woman can't divorce her husband and keep him from marrying again three years later.

The Whigs should run the devil for their candidate for the presidency. We don't believe though the Whigs will step into the locofoco regions for this candidate and the gentlemen spoken of will have to rely on the exertions of his own party.

WHEN WILL THE WAR CLOSE?

Aye, that is the question. When the war was commenced it was supposed by those who brought it about for the purpose of sustaining their political power, that it would be of short duration, that the Mexicans would be frightened into fits and come speedily to any terms demanded of them, and that the administration would crown itself with glory, and insure its triumph for four years longer. This was a probably calculation, but it has been woefully illustrated. The Mexicans have shown resistance beyond what was anticipated, the administration is not likely to reach the laurels it expected, and there is no forming a definite idea at present when the war will end. Mr. Polk is doubtless heartily tired of it, since it cannot possibly result in any popularity or honor to him. The commencement of the war was his, and if he is to feather any laurels he must do it from that act alone. The deeds of our gallant troops are another matter. They can reap honor in this prosecution, and glory in its issue. It is nothing to them how the war commenced, but their honor and that of the country is interwoven with its issue. The president might like to get out of the war, but the army of the country demands that it shall be with honor.

Joint Meeting Sunday
of Epworth Leagues

A joint meeting of the Epworth Leagues of the Washington-Ozark charge of the Methodist church was held in the local Methodist church on last Sunday night. This is to be a regular occurrence hereafter. It is announced by officers of the several leagues represented, and will likely take place on the fourth of fifth Sunday in each month. Meetings are to be held in each of the leagues in the charge. The leagues are Ozark, St. Paul and Washington. The program in each instance to be rendered by the league visited.

St. Paul church was represented by 28 members, Ozark by 19 and Washington by more than 30.

The next joint session will be at St. Paul church, north of Ozark, on the night of the fourth Sunday in February.

The Rev. J. L. Leonard, pastor of the churches to which these leagues belongs says: "The young people's division of the church of the Washington-Ozark charge is an organization by and for the young people of the charge. Its activities are carried on under the supervision of adults. While the division is under the auspices of the Methodist church, yet it is not exclusively for Methodist young people. The Epworth League feature of the organization often includes in its membership young people of other denominations."

She brushed past a handsome, middle-aged man, who had been waiting at the row of telephones on the fifth floor of Barclay's. She did not notice him until he touched her on the arm. She turned to face Steven Barclay, owner of the department store.

She was considerably taken aback. Color rose in her cheeks, but her voice was cool as she admitted that she did clerk in a store and meant to continue to do so. Salomon indifferently assured her that such a course was an easy way to quick suicide, but he did not appear to be really interested.

"Another thing," Ellen said as she prepared to leave. "I haven't any real evening dress. Only semi-evening dresses."

Salomon's feet, which had been cocked upon the desk, came down on the floor.

"Won't do," he said. "I might as well tell you that the evening clothes are the catch. They wear out fast here. And you gotta have 'em. This is a classy place. Part of our advertising is 'Every beautiful hostess in the latest from Paris.'"

"But I—" Ellen clamped her teeth into her lower lip. As she silently followed him she called forth all her reserve to meet this final calamity.

So she was to lose her job at Barclay's!

"Won't do. We're in this bit for February 3, 1847.

ADVANCE IN COTTON—We are informed by a gentleman just from New Orleans, which place he left on the 25th, that there was great excitement in the cotton market an dthere was a price of two cents a pound had been taken.

The advance was caused by the arrival of the Thermin, from Liverpool with dates to the 18th of December, showing an advance of a cent and a quarter in England. He brings no papers but assures us that the quotations when he left were from 11½ to 14 cents a pound.

MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH TO NEW ORLEANS—We learn with pleasure that a contract has been made by the patentees of Morse's magnetic telegraph to construct a line from Washington to New Orleans by way of Charleston, Mobile and numerous other intermediate points of commercial interest. Books of subscription to this stock, the whole amount which is estimated at less than $200,000, will soon be opened in Philadelphia, and the great importance of the line will, we feel confident, commend it to favorable consideration. It is thought probable that Congress may take some action on the subject, and aid its speedy construction as a war measure, in the way of loans; for it will place the cabinet in Washington in almost immediate communication with the army and navy in the gulf.

The Whigs should run the devil for their candidate for the presidency. We don't believe though the Whigs will step into the locofoco regions for this candidate and the gentlemen spoken of will have to rely on the exertions of his own party.

Ellen had no better idea of that than Molly. But she poured forth reassurances before she hung up the receiver and turned away. She gave way a little then. There were tears in her wide, thick-lashed eyes and her face, ordinarily so rosy, was pale with fatigue and anxiety.
